What kind of area do you live in? (Rural, urban, suburban) suburban

How many acres do you have? 0

When did you start prepping? Was there a time, event or something significant that caused you to prep?

General awareness of world events coupled with contextual knowledge from military experience in late 2010 led to me being more concerned about general preparedness. Research for my current film project made me aware that the many prepper scenarios are FAR from fictitious.

What kind of security/defense training do you have? Were you in the military?

Served in army infantry from 2004-2009, multiple combat tours. I also do ongoing firearms/tactical training, and have even extended this training to actors for my films. I am proficient in combat gear and fieldcraft.

Do you have any kind of skillset? (Mechanical, electrical, engineering, technical, etc)

Firearms and small-unit tactics, room clearing, urban combat

How long will your food storage last you? What kinds of foods do you store?

Currently have 2 years of stored food – dried goods, wheat, MREs, cans, seed banks for planting.

How many and what kind of weapons/ammo do you have stored?

AR15s with several thousand rounds
.40 pistols with several hundred rounds
AK47 with 500 rounds
M1a with 500 rounds
Remington 700 rifles with 500 rounds

Do you have a bug out location? If so, how far away is it from your home? Is it underground?

My bug out location is 60 miles from my house in the quasi-countryside. It is not underground, but I'm working on it.

What kinds of Alternative Energy do you have?

Doomsday Preppers Season 3 Casting Questionnaire

Presently, none. However my bugout location has multiple propane tanks, and a wood stove heater hookup.

Is there anything else you are stockpiling that is not mentioned above?

Medical supplies, comfort items, canning goods, books/knowledge, fuel treatment additives. Currently on a rotation cycle with clothing and footwear to maintain a supply of broken in but usable items. Cash and silver.

Do you have any conflicts with friends or family about prepping?

General eye-rolling and resistance to cooperation.

Have you ever built anything from scratch before? If so, what is it?

Not that I can think of offhand, but I am learning to do such things – like hydroponic setups or vehicle additions.

What would you like to build that's unique and would make your preps better?

Custom vehicles stripped to rugged essentials. I want to turn my bugout location into a self-sustaining compound with water, solar, and gardening.

Do you have any projects or goals you want to complete soon? Any "DIY" prepper tips to share?

My current project is to build long-term rugged cases that hold rifles and the necessary gear/tools to switch out components for different applications.

List the top 3 events you are prepping for:

- The collapse of the dollar and long-term societal degradation/economic depression.
- solar flares wiping out the electrical grid
- government crackdown on "dissenters" and otherwise self-reliant people
